‘TIME FOR CHANGE?’ CHILD, YOUTH, FAMILY AND DISABILITY CONFERENCE: CALL FOR PAPERS
Elizabeth Gaskell Campus, Manchester Metropolitan University, Hathersage Road, Manchester, UK, M13 0JA
10.30 – 4.00pm, 18th & 19th June, 2013

What is the conference about?
A conference is an event where people can talk and share ideas. We will be talking about the life of disabled children and their families. This year we want to talk about change. We are looking for people who can talk about one or more of these questions:

- What has changed?
- How have you been involved in changing lives?
- What changes would you like to see?
- What are the barriers to and opportunities for change?

Who is this conference for?
We want to hear from:
- Disabled children and young people
- Their families
- Practitioners (people who work with disabled children)
On Tuesday (18th June 2013) we will have accessible presentations and discussion points. You can also take part in workshop activities (further details to follow).

On Wednesday (19th June 2013) we will have more formal presentations but we will particularly welcome presentations or discussion papers that tell a story, share a skill, some information or research in ways that try to be as accessible and creative as possible - for example, that use a range of presentations styles and media including photography, video and artwork.
